Be the first to preview THE MIDDLE PATH, at the newly renovated The BLANC Art Space. In this collaboration between two forward-thinking galleries, See|Me and The BLANC, view the work of eight international artists, defining journeys and posing questions represented in both literal and symbolic genres. The Middle Path references a Buddhist concept - the unique path one carves when navigating life - the way between the polarities of circumstances and freedoms, and a space of vast creative potential and the power to choose. From obsession to clarity, or the road less traveled, these choices bring awareness and become meaningful touchpoints. Artworks in THE MIDDLE PATH are inspired by such questions and inflection points in the life of each artist. Join us in this journey where there is no wrong way, there is only your way.

Curator's tours are available upon prior request.

About See|Me:

See|Me is a socially conscious startup founded to serve an international community of artists and bring visibility to their work via open calls, exhibitions, events, partnerships, and select economic opportunities. Our digital gallery and open calls, and exhibitions at Art Fairs and galleries in NYC, Miami, and beyond showcase talented artists to thousands of gallerists, collectors, and purchasers each month. Exhibition themes are chosen to address current and meaningful topics and offer open-ended interpretations toward accessibility for various artists.
